The Tomato Trail,
Bean Trapeze,
Cucurbit Carnival,
Floral Display and Vegetables of Joy.

Artist Statement: This year's annual planning resulted from the ambition to grow all plants from seed and the desire to create an attractive, functional, and fun environment.

Flowers attract pollinators to vegetable plants and provide color in the design. Vegetables are harvested and shared with volunteers, visitors, and staff. Structures invoke interest and proved support for plants.

Visitors are invited to walk along the mulch paths through the planting and observe the flowers and vegetables up close.

The goal of the planting is to engage visitors in a landscape that is both attractive and productive with the hope that they may get ideas for their own spaces.

Garden staff and volunteers collaborated on the ideation, design, growing, instillation and maintenance of the planting.
